Band Slated for Hamlin's School

Walter P. Chalcraft Is Employed to Teach Band Music; Shape Up New Organization

Walter P. Chalcraft, recently graduated from McMurry College with a major in band music, has been employed to be band instructor in the Hamlin High School for the next term. I. R. Huchingson, superintendent, announced this week.

Chalcraft, whose home is in Seattle, has been a member of the McMurry Indian band during the past four years.

Huchingson said the new music instructor will come here in August and will conduct a pre-school band conference with all students who are interested in the organization.

He plans to have the group ready for regular rehearsals shortly after the beginning of school, which is for Monday, September 5.

Uniforms which the school has owned for several years, and which were used by the last school band here, will be renovated and reconditioned for use of the group during the first part of the year. New uniforms probably will be purchased later, Huchingson said.

It has been approximately seven years since band music was taught in Hamlin schools, and the school has not attempted to have an organization since that time because of the difficulty of obtaining an instructor.

Some of the larger band instruments will be furnished by the school, but the smaller and more personal instruments will be bought by individual members of the band.

Huchingson said that Chalcraft will take band students from the fifth grade up through all high school grades.

Regular schedule of practice sessions will be worked out shortly after Chalcraft arrives.

Tractor Climbs Wall Goes Through Station

Doc Neal had no doubts at all last Friday about the pulling power of his Farmall tractor. He had seen a first hand demonstration of what it could do.

The tractor Friday staged a show all of its own when it ran, driverless, into the south wall of the Farmers' Cooperative Service Station, reared up in front and began climbing the wall, and finally pushed out a large section.

Neal had brought the tractor in for servicing, and after having changed the oil, he flipped on the switch and gave the crank a pull. The tractor, which had been left in gear, started with a roar and almost pinned Neal to the ground.

A large section of the south wall was shoved out of the station and it took a heavy truck to pull the tractor back to the outside of the structure.

Calvary Church Calls Rev. Pate for Pastor

Rev. Leo Pate of Cookeville, has been called to the pastorate of the Calvary Baptist Church of Hamlin. It was announced this week by members of the congregation.

Rev. Pate, who served pastorates in Oklahoma before going to Cookeville, will come here July 23 to begin his ministry in the local church.

The new pastor is succeeding Rev. W. E. Nunn, who resigned in March to accept a pastorate in East Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Pate have two children.

Need For Coolers in Hospital Is Acute

The need for air conditioning units in the Hamlin Memorial Hospital is acute, with rising temperatures and continued hot, dry weather, W. L. Fletcher Jr., chairman of the hospital board, said Thursday.

"Patients in the hospital are suffering intensely from the heat," Fletcher said, "and it is imperative that the units be installed at once to prevent needless misery."

A total of 15 units have been pledged during the past two weeks, Fletcher reported, and only seven more are needed to complete installation in every room.

Cost of the units has been cut to $35 each, which is a saving of $14.95 from regular retail price of the conditioners. Contributions to the air conditioning fund can be made direct to Fletcher, or to any member of the board.

Rites Thursday In Hamlin for Mrs. A. Farmer

Funeral services were conducted in the Hamlin Church of Christ at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon for Mrs. Alice N. Farmer, 74.

Mrs. Farmer died in the Hamlin Memorial Hospital at 2 a. m. Wednesday following a brief illness. Her health had been poor for some time prior to her death.

She was born in Gatesville April 25, 1875, where she grew to womanhood. She married Mr. Farmer and they came to Hamlin in 1901. Farmer died in 1940. Following the death of her husband, Mrs. Farmer had made her home with relatives.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Edgar Smith of Hamlin, and two sons, W. M. Farmer of Hamlin and Stanley Farmer of Hereford.

Burial was in the East Cemetery, directed by Barrow Funeral Home.

Pfc. Elbert Grimes Stationed in Japan

Pfc. Elbert L. Grimes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Grimes of Hamlin is on duty with the American occupation forces in Kobe, Japan.

Kobe is Japan's largest seaport, and before the war was the center of her import and export trade.

Pfc. Grimes entered the army in June 1947 in Dallas and was transferred to Japan in November, 1947. Prior to his enlistment he was in school in Hamlin.

BEAUFORD H. JESTER

Huchingson Speaker For Aspermont Lions

I. R. Huchingson, superintendent of Hamlin schools, and recently appointed zone chairman of Lions clubs in this area, was principal speaker at the Ladies Night meeting of the Aspermont Lions Club Tuesday evening.

Huchingson discussed "Security Through Service," to the group of more than 50 men and women. Officers for the year were installed during the evening's program.

Planning Board Asks Council to Act on Petition

A request that the Hamlin City Council take action on the petition recently presented calling for a bond election to build a swimming pool in Hamlin, was made by members of the City Planning Board, in the regular monthly meeting Monday night.

The request, however, did not urge immediate action of the city council, but asked that the matter not be dropped.

Holly Toler, mayor, said Tuesday that the petition, which is still on file, will be considered at a later date, but in ample time to permit construction of a pool before the next swimming season opens, if voters of the city should give approval to such construction.

Toler told representatives of the Planning Board that the city council is not averse to any movement which the public approves, but it wants to study all proposals carefully and attempt to work out the best methods of proceeding for the welfare of the city.

The Planning Board also voted unanimously to back the City Health Officer and the council in any movement to force compliance with city sanitary code.

The vote was in relation to getting rid of open outside toilets in Hamlin that have proved sources of annoyance to residents, and to residents which sanitation authorities claim are breeding places for flies and disease.

The board passed a resolution thanking the Hamlin City Council for having purchased the DDT spray machine, which has been in almost daily use for the past 10 days. The machine was bought following inauguration of a movement for its purchase by the planning group.

Miss Lennie Greenway, secretary of the Hamlin Cemetery Association, reported that the now inactive Junior Chamber of Commerce had donated $222.82 for the purchase of a mowing machine and other equipment for use in the cemetery.

Roy J. Curtis explained plans for selling house numbers and installing street markers and asked cooperation of the board in the movement.

IRWIN TO CONVENTION
A. G. Irwin, president of the Hamlin Lions Club, left Tuesday for New York City, where he will attend the annual convention of Lions International. He was accompanied by Mrs. Irwin and their children, Jerre Lynn and Boyce, and Miss Eleanor Huchingson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morton and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Linn attended funeral services in Fort Worth last week for Charles Goggeman, an uncle of Roy Bule, a son-in-law of Mrs. Linn.

Shivers to Take Oath Saturday

Jester Funeral in Corsicana Wednesday as Thousands Mourn Death of Chief Executive

Allan Shivers, who until early Monday morning was lieutenant governor of Texas, will take the oath of office as chief executive in the Shivers farm home at 9:45 Saturday morning.

Shivers succeeded to the governorship at the death of Beauford H. Jester, whose body was found in a Pullman car in Houston early Monday morning, where he had died in his sleep.

Doctors who examined the body of the chief executive, said death was attributed to a coronary thrombosis, and that he died without awakening.

Jester had been in excellent health until last week when he suffered a brief attack of food poisoning. He had recovered, however, from the effects of the brief illness, and was en route to Galveston for a medical checkup.

Shortly before he boarded the train in Austin Sunday night for his final trip, Jester had played a game of softball with his children, and had gone for a swim.

Thousands of people from all parts of Texas and from many neighboring states thronged into Corsicana Wednesday to pay final tribute to the man whose boyhood ambition was gratified when he was elected to the governorship of Texas.

He was serving his second term as governor when death cut short his period of office. He was 56 years of age.

Shivers, who is the state's 36th chief executive, was born in Lufkin, October 5, 1907, and is one of the three youngest men ever to hold the highest office in the state.

He obtained degrees in business administration and law at Texas University in Austin. During his school career Shivers was active in campus politics and was head of the university's honor council.

The new governor served 14 years in the state senate before he was elected lieutenant governor.

Celotex Holds Top Loop Spot; Play Nears End

Celotex men's softball team continued to ride high in the top position in the Hamlin softball play this week despite an upset defeat at the hands of the Hamlin High School Green Sox. The loss was the first of the season for the Celotexans.

The Sox, defeated twice during the summer play, held to second place in the men's division, with Hilton third, Neinda and Sylvester tied for fourth, and McCaulley in the cellar with no wins.

In the women's division Stamford held undisputed sway with no losses chalked against the peppery squad. Neinda women were in second with Hamlin and McCaulley tied for cellar positions.

The Lions Clubs were in top position in the boys division with Celotex and McCaulley following in that order.

In games last Friday the Celotex boys drubbed McCaulley easily with a score of 13 to 5.

Stamford women ran in 10 to defeat Neinda with seven runs for the second game of the evening. In the final for last Friday the Sylvester men had easy sailing in defeating McCaulley 15 to 2.

Monday night fans witnessed the upset of the league-leading Celotex aggregation when the Green Sox won 5 to 1. It was the first defeat of the year for Celotex.

In the game Sugar Green, hurler for the Sox, was pitted on the mound against his brother, Winston Green. The Hamlin pitcher allowed only two hits and struck out six, while his brother gave up seven hits and struck out four Hamlin players.

Stapler for the Sox set a sensational batting record getting three hits out of three, and one walk.

Hilton took a game from McCaulley men in the second contest of the evening with a score of 11 to 2.

The Lions Cubs defeated Celotex boys 6 to 2 in the first game Tuesday evening.

Stamford women staged a runaway game when they trounced McCaulley 42 to 1 in only four innings. The game was called because of time.

In the final game for Tuesday evening Sylvester men defeated Neinda 14 to 7.

Games slated in the city league were nearing the end of the summer schedule with the final contests set for Tuesday, July 26, according to Coach Jesse Burditt.

Playoffs will be staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 28, 29 and 30.

Games set for next week are: Monday, July 18: Hamlin women vs. Neinda; and Neinda men vs. Hilton. Tuesday, July 19: Hison women vs. McCaulley; and Celotex men vs. Sylvester. Thursday, July 21: Hilton women vs. Stamford; and Neinda men vs. McCaulley.

REVIVAL OPENS
The "Spiritual Life Crusade" revival will open in the Hamlin Methodist church Friday evening.

Dr. Will C. House, pastor, said this week. The revival which will continue until Sunday, July 24, will be directed by Dr. Frank L. Turner, widely known evangelist.

Casing Set for Gonzalez No. 2; Poe No. 5 Staked

General Crude Oil Co., drilling Gonzalez No. 2, set casing at 4,800 feet Wednesday and prepared to bring in the well for a producer.

The well showed a light commercial production on Schlumberger tests run before the casing was set. Production will be from the reef series.

The R. L. Millstead well, south of Hamlin, was drilling below the 4,800 foot mark Wednesday with no showing. The well was scheduled for 5,000 feet.

Dr. W. H. Bryant set location for Poe No. 5, and prepared to move equipment this week. The well will go to the reef at about 5,000 ft.

Near Neinda, L. A. Schiedacoff had drilled to 4,200 feet on the Golda Belle Herndon well, which was being deepened. The test, drilled previously to 2,800 had been abandoned as a dry hole.

It is planned to drill to 5,000 feet to explore possibilities for production in the test.

The O. L. Henry test, six miles east of Hamlin, was plugged and abandoned this week after operators had drilled to 4,500 feet with no showing.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co., drilling the Port H. Williams No. 2, an offset to the discovery well in the Ellenburger zone, reported at 4,300 feet Wednesday. The well will go below 5,000 feet.

Towne B-4, drilled by Dr. W. H. Bryant, tested 15 barrels of high grade crude an hour on quarter inch choke this week when official gauge was run prior to putting the well into regular production.

Jaycee Fund Used to Buy Mowing Machine

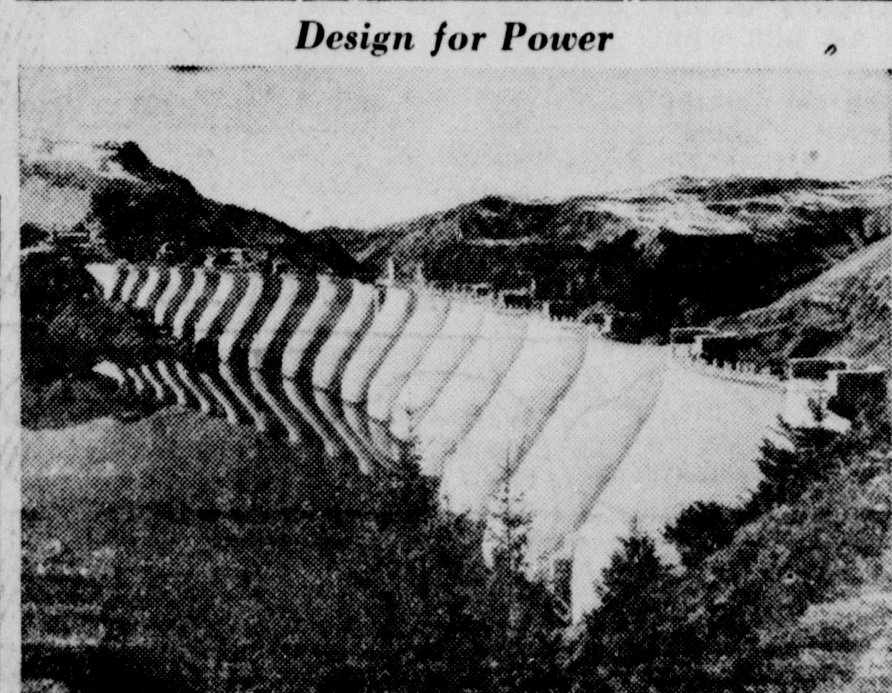

A new mowing machine was purchased for the Hamlin Cemeteries last week with money donated to the association by the now inactive Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Lennie Greenway, secretary of the association, announced.

The Jaycee fund amounted to $2,282, Miss Greenway said, and the machine was purchased from the city at a cost of $175. The machine has been in use for several days, and has made much improvement in the appearance of the cemeteries, the secretary said.

Additional funds are needed by the association to get the two burial grounds in proper condition, and Miss Greenway said any contribution will be appreciated.

If Not, Why Not?

If Hamlin's city government cannot enforce the city's sanitary code, then why have such a code cluttering up the ordinance books of the town?

If a sanitary code cannot be enforced, then why go to the effort and expense of passing such an ordinance in the first place?

If it is impossible to force people to make use of sanitary sewer facilities, then it is likely that no other sanitary law or regulation can be enforced.

But the truth is that sanitary rules and regulations are being enforced in other cities and towns of Texas. Many of them are requiring all residents to be connected to sewer lines, or to install approved type outdoor toilets as a safety measure against disease.

If it can be done in other cities and towns, then we submit, it can be done here.

But while residents of Hamlin are bandying words and arguing over whether it can be done or not, the filth keeps piling up in alleys and streets and dangers of an epidemic continue to grow and nothing is done about it.

If Hamlin cannot require its citizens to observe minimum sanitary requirements for the protection of all of us, then the city would do well to dissolve its charter and abandon the town to weeds and filth and desolation.

If open, unsanitary, outdoor toilets cannot be outlawed in Hamlin, then why not? And if they can be outlawed, then why has it not been done?

Every mother in Hamlin would like to know the answer to those questions.

Eloquent Facts

Socialized medicine is supposed to give the people of a country good health service for little or nothing. But they pay plenty for it—in money, and in the important coin of a decline in the standards of medical care. That is the gist of a report on socialized medicine in New Zealand, made by a practicing dentist of that country.

The cost is tremendous, he said—because so much of the money goes for administration. Armies of civil servants are on the payroll. Little is spent on research, and overworked physicians "have little or no time for reading and investigation and little incentive to study abroad." He said further that physicians are called upon for so many consultations that "it is impossible for them to devote necessary time to each patient, evaluate their symptoms and give a careful and considered diagnosis."

All of this has a familiar ring. Exactly the same thing has happened in every country which has adopted socialized medicine or, which is almost equally bad, has gone in for one kind or another of compulsory health insurance schemes that give the government the whip hand over medical practice and make the doctor dependent on the state for his living. The cost of care goes up even as the standards of care go down. And progress and research take a back seat.

The best argument against compulsory sickness insurance for this country is the experience of other nations. The plain, unvarnished facts are eloquent enough.

An Effective Remedy

An effective remedy for juvenile delinquency is being demonstrated in Hamlin by Bill Shira and Herman Treadwell, both of whom are devoting much time to training the junior softball teams.

Treadwell and Shira took over management of the Lions Club team at opening of the softball season, and have spent a great deal of their time and considerable of their money in coaching the players up to their present position.

It is unlikely that boys will become delinquents when they have opportunities to play and develop under such unselfish leadership.

But Who Gets Hit?

Writer Pleads for Better Understand Of Labors Problems on Part of Business

By MAURICE H. FRANKS

Too many people are prone to handle the matter of industrial relations from a negative point of view and are continually on the hunt for ways and means of blocking labor and its representatives in their progress toward honorable goals.

Such approach to a truly vital problem succeeds only in creating needless friction up and down the entire line. Surely it does nothing to bring the essential partners of industry together in a smoothly working team.

This entire attitude needs correction. For whether we like it or not, the unions are here to stay and it's up to management to get along with them in a positive not a negative, sense.

To hear some employers talk, a person is led to believe that all unionism is a big-time racket and that all labor leaders are either racketeers or radicals—minutemen, if you please, of a coming revolution. Well, such an idea is plain silly.

The labor movement as a whole is anything but an instrument created for the express purpose of overthrowing our form of government; it is in very fact a direct expression of representative Americanism. This much I can assert with positive conviction after having personally spent more than a quarter of a century in the labor movement in various official capacities—i.e., as committeeman, delegate, business agent, organizer and editor.

In my day, it is true, I have met both Communists and racketeers in the labor movement. But in my experience, these were the rare exception rather than the rule. Nor has the situation grown progressively worse. Today, as formerly, better than 95 per cent of the rank and file are good, honorable Americans willing to do the honorable thing when they know it to be the honorable thing to do. This percentage applies to their leadership as well.

Of course, it is not always an easy matter to plot an honorable course of action in a dishonorable situation. This is mainly because the situation is frequently darkened by certain employers whose attitude toward the unions and their leaders is one of tolerance and open antagonism. Unfortunately we still have employers who, in their own words, "would rather slug it out."

Moreover, too many businessmen conduct their affairs behind a smoke screen, ignorantly seeking some advantage in an effort to mystify and deceive. Yes, too many business leaders in a situation that closely affects them. Hence, it is no wonder that the union leaders as a group are forever ready to go at the employer hammer and tongs and make demands upon him which are in fact unreasonable.

When we stop to analyze the situation, we soon discover that in no few cases the employer is more to blame than the union for a sudden flare-up. This is simply because there are today employers who refuse to operate their businesses on the up and up—who refuse to lay their cards on the table and treat their workers as the partners they so truly are.

Needed on the part of management throughout American industry is a spirit of straightforwardness in reporting its trials and tribulations in simple terms to the worker. At present there is too much hocus-pocus, too little willingness to confide in the worker. This leaves the worker in the dark and creates in his mind the thought that management does not trust him. Why, then, should we be surprised that, when trouble starts, the workers do not trust management?

This situation must be eliminated. Immediate remedy lies in a more general acceptance of the fact that the workers and their employers are anything but natural enemies—that in truth they are partners in a common cause: production. That mutual advantage lies in joining forces wholeheartedly to produce the most of the best for the least. And that this can never be accomplished in a climate name-calling, back-biting, mystification and all-around disharmony.

Calling labor leaders racketeers and radicals just because of the demands they make upon the employer for the benefits of their constituents must cease. Labor leaders, if they are worth their salt, will always strive to better the condition of their members—and to exactly the same degree that any decent management will forever strive to advance the interest of its stockholders.

So let's not kid ourselves about the nature of the labor management relationship. And let's get wise to the fact that workers of this nation, irrespective of their calling, are anything but a pack of lame-brained nincompoops unable to see through a situation when the facts are laid before them.

Since the American worker is an adult human being, with just about as much gray matter at his disposal as the men who pose as his betters, it will be wise for management to appreciate that legitimate business requires no hocus-pocus, no sleight of hand, to put itself across. If the employer expects to get along with his workers, he will have to operate his business right out in the open—so that his workers will come to accept him as one who is ON THE UP AND UP.

Labor Trusts as Dangerous to Nation As Outlawed Business Trusts, Peck Say

By GEORGE PECK

In 1890 we passed the Sherman Act which made illegal monopolies of trade and commerce. Theodore Roosevelt used this Act as his "Big Stick" to bust the business trusts.

In 1914 came the Clayton Act with amendments to the anti-trust laws. Labor unions thought this Act would exempt them, but the U. S. Supreme Court held that unions which monopolized or restrained trade or commerce were punishable under the Sherman Act in spite of the provisions of the Clayton Act.

In 1932 Congress passed the Norris-LaGuardia Act limiting the use of injunctions in Federal courts in certain labor controversies. Since the passage of this act the Supreme Court, in a series of decisions, has held that a union pursuing its own objectives and not conspiring with employers is not liable to punishment or penalty under the Sherman Act, for any restraints of trade or monopolies it may cause.

Theodore Roosevelt, during his Presidency, broke up the business combines and monopolies that were in restraint of trade. It was during the reign of another Roosevelt—Franklin—that monopolies far more injurious than business monopolies had been, were created. Today there is no legal restraint imposed by Federal law, other than short delays, on any action by a labor union which might have the effect of shutting down an entire industry.

As a result, industry-wide unions have grown in power and number. The United Mine Workers now is able to shut off the supply of coal to the country any time John L. Lewis lifts his bushy eyebrows, without fear of any restraint under Federal statutes. The automobile unions can shut down all the automobiles plants, the railroad unions can halt all the railroads, etc., etc. We have created a Frankenstein as a direct result of the passage of the Clayton and Norris-LaGuardia Acts.

Our system of government was devised to prevent concentration of power in the hands of any government group. But now we have erected, as a result of Congressional legislation, monopolies which can exercise arbitrary power and which can bring this nation to its knees whenever they desire to exercise that power.

The remedy is to strike at the existence of this power by breaking up big industry-wide unions into smaller unions, so that the economic power remaining to smaller unions will not be sufficient, if exercised, to do grievous damage to the country as a whole.

This can easily be accomplished by amending the antitrust laws to provide that monopolization of the supply of labor in any industry engaged in interstate or foreign commerce shall be prohibited, notwithstanding the provisions of the Clayton and Norris-LaGuardia Acts, which the Supreme Court has decided exempt unions from antitrust laws. Under such a law, the courts would have the authority to adjust the remedy to the facts in each case and could, in each case of a dissolved union, prescribe the limitation of size of any of the component parts, and the amount of cooperation which would be permitted between them.

The remedies which have been discussed in Congress, such as seizure of plants of employers whose employees are on strike or enjoining a strike impairing the national welfare, but only for a limited period, reach only the symptoms of the disease of monopoly and do not strike at its roots. Unless Congress and the people decide to eradicate the disease at its source, i.e., by breaking up the big unions and limiting the size of their component parts, we shall continue to be afflicted with strikes, unreasonable labor demands, and continued turmoil, all in utter disregard of the national welfare.

The business trusts were busted—it's now time to bust the labor trusts.

LOOPHOLES in the Law

By WILL WILSON

Past President, Texas District and County Attorneys Association

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short case histories, all taken from court records, showing how legal loopholes often enable criminals to escape punishment in Texas. Will Wilson is chairman of a special steering committee of the State Bar, which is working for revision of the antiquated Criminal Code and Code of Criminal Procedure in order to eliminate these loopholes.)

Joe Doakes was charged with robbery with a pistol. A jury found him guilty, and his sentence was fixed at fifteen years in the penitentiary. The indictment of Doakes read, in part, as follows: "that one Joe Doakes by assault and by violence with a firearm robbed one John

Smith of one ten-cent piece . . . However, when John Smith took the stand during the trial he testified that he actually had been robbed of two nickels instead of one dime. The jury saw no difference and promptly convicted Doakes.

The case was reversed by a higher court. Its ruling was that the proof did not meet the allegation against Doakes simply because of the difference between two five cent pieces and one ten-cent piece. The higher court ruled that Doakes was entitled to a new trial.

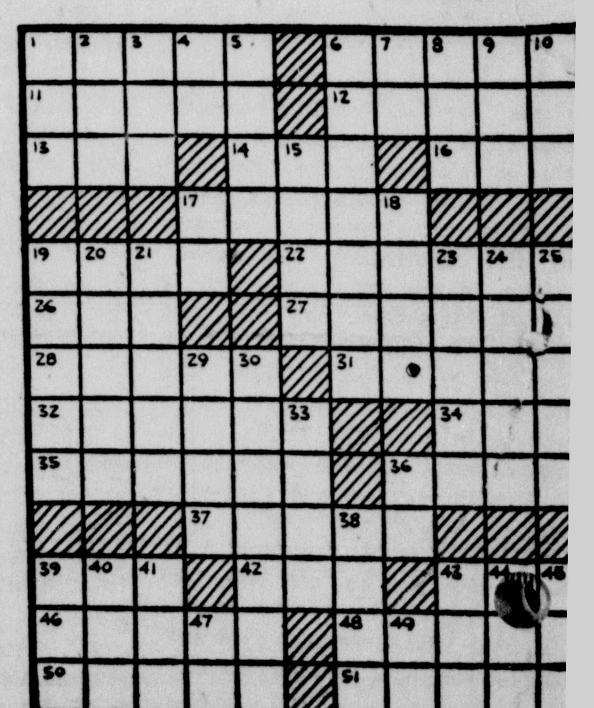

The State Bar favors revising Texas' criminal statutes in such way as to eliminate technicalities that result in delay and additional expenditures from public funds.

All-Out Fight on D. Launched by Health Bureau

A statewide educational campaign for the control of venereal diseases, which will be carried out throughout the summer and possibly into the fall, has been announced by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, who said that the public will be reached by means of radio, newspapers, movies, and lectures by health authorities.

"While it is true that great advances have been made recently in the control of these diseases, nevertheless a lack of full information on the part of the public has hindered the complete success of the program," Dr. Cox said.

"There has been a steady decline in the incidence of new cases reported, in infant and adult mortality rates, and in admissions to mental institutions due to syphilis, since 1938 when intensive measures for the control of venereal diseases were initiated. But this decline has not been great enough," Dr. Cox added, "and this is partly attributable to a lack of accurate information and the general apathy concerning venereal diseases which the termination of the war."

"The spread of many completely false ideas about these diseases and their treatment has also led to a feeling of complacency, and the belief that a patient can diagnose his own case, and treat it with self medication. This is a particularly dangerous untruth; only a competent doctor can diagnose and treat venereal diseases, and it is the purpose of this educational campaign to fully inform the public of the actual dangers of venereal diseases, and what measures must be taken to control them."

Dr. Cox said that this campaign of the Texas State Department of Health will coincide with other similar educational campaigns, which will be conducted by health officials throughout the entire nation.

Swimmers Urged to Use Care to Avoid Danger of Drowning in Summer Sport

Most people regard swimming as the ideal summer sport. It is good exercise and is refreshing, and brings relief from summer heat.

So easy it is to forget that swimming can be hazardous. We may not realize the dangers of swimming until we hear of a drowning, or have the unpleasant experience of a "narrow escape" in the water ourselves.

By far the greater percentage of swimming fatalities are the result of carelessness. In almost cases they could have been avoided if a few precautions had been observed.

This may seem unnecessary advice, but anyone who likes the water, whether it be lakes, pools, rivers or the ocean, should learn how to swim. Knowing how to swim makes the water more fun, as well as less hazardous.

But even good and experienced swimmers should never go swimming alone. Accidents can happen to the best swimmers and someone else should be along—preferably a person who swims well—to help out if anything should go wrong.

Most of us were warned as small children not to go into the water too soon after eating. Rushing into the water before the food has time to digest invites stomach cramps which usually make their victim helpless. People should stay out of the water for at least two hours after eating.

Moderation is important in swimming as it is in everything else. No one, not even an expert, should swim to the point of complete exhaustion, or stay in the water after he becomes chilled. Panicky, resulting in helplessness, can overtake any swimmer who becomes fatigued or chilled, although most swimmers know that when they become tired or cramped they should float on their backs until they become rested or until help comes.

It is foolish to swim in dirty water, or in unknown waters that might be polluted and unsafe for your nose and mouth submerged in water that might be polluted, it is easy to take germs that may cause serious illness.

If you enjoy diving, learn to dive properly and make certain the area of water in which you plunge is right for diving. It is wise, also, to check with your doctor if you intend to dive, since people with sinus or ear trouble can be seriously injured in diving.

In short, if you exercise common sense and avoid taking foolish chances, swimming can be an enjoyable, healthful, summer pleasure, free from harrowing experiences and serious accidents.

Influenza, Winter-Time Ailment Also Strike in Summer, Doctor Says

Influenza is caused by a virus—a germ too small to be seen through an ordinary microscope. It occurs most frequently in the winter months, sometimes spreading rapidly through entire communities. It may occur in mild form, causing the patient only a few days' discomfort, or in a severe form, such as that which took more than 20 million lives in the outbreak following World War I.

Influenza rarely appears in very young babies, although older children seem particularly susceptible. Fortunately, it is generally less severe than in adults.

The disease is thought to be spread through coughs and sneezes.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burfeind of Sweetwater.

Mrs. Mittie Teague of San Angelo visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Criswell and Tom Campbell last Sunday.

Rev. C. A. Watson, Baptist minister of Abilene, will conduct services in the Celotex club house Sunday morning and Sunday evening.

or through direct contact. No symptoms appear for one to two days after infection. Then the victim has a fever, ranging usually from 101 and 102 degrees, aching muscles, running nose, headache, sore throat, and a general feeling of illness. He may have a dry or a loose cough.

Medical advice should be sought as soon as possible after the onset of the disease. Serious complications often can be avoided if the doctor is called early and his advice followed.

The influenza patient should be kept warm and should rest in bed until his doctor permits him to get up. He should try to eat an adequate diet to maintain his strength, supplementing his diet with extra fluids, particularly citrus juices. With good care, symptoms ordinarily will subside in a few days. However, the patient should allow a reasonable time to elapse before returning to his duties and thus guard against relapse.

Via of San Bernardino, Calif.; Mrs. L. W. Jenkins and children of Oklahoma City; and Miss Billye Carlton of Fort Worth were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Carlton last week end.

A PENNY-- for your thoughts

A bigger bargain you couldn't seek—A penny tells time for about a week!

Here's the answer to a housewife's wishes—One penny will wash six loads of dishes!

Four pennies a year for Father's shaving! Can you imagine a greater saving?

OF COURSE, It's Electric!

Yes, even the lowly penny can buy you a lot of convenience and service—when you spend it for electric service. For there's plenty of penny wisdom in living the electric way—easily, comfortably, healthfully. Though electric service is just about the smallest item in your family budget, what else does so much—for so little?

Advance of Wheat Prices Offset By Declines in Cotton Market Prices

Steady to higher southwest livestock prices were offset by declines on cotton some grains and many fruits and vegetables during the past week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration reported.

Wheat advanced 10 cents a bushel since last Tuesday, as barley gained 7 to 8 cents, and white corn 1-2 to 5 1-2 cents. Milo declined 5 cents a hundred pounds. No. 1 hard wheat closed Monday at $2.20 1-2 to $2.30 1-2, and No. 2 milo $2.05 to $2.20.

Cotton declined 25 cents to $1.50 a bale for the week. Spot middling 15-16 inch closed Monday at 31.50 cents a pound at Dallas and Galveston, 31.85 at Houston, 32.30 at New Orleans, and 32.50 at Little Rock.

Trading was very good at New Orleans on heavy receipts of local and shipped in fruits and vegetables at mostly unchanged prices. Denver saw brisk trading most days with many prices lower. Many prices declined at St. Louis in slow trade. Plentiful supplies of watermelons and cantaloupes moved at lower prices at Fort Worth where peaches were in moderate supply. Peach growers in Louisiana received unchanged prices, but pepper markets continued to weaken.

Sheep and lambs sold unchanged

TO TAKE VACATION

Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Posey and daughter will leave next Monday for Creed, Colo., where they will spend several days on vacation.

to a little higher than a week ago. Greatest gain was at San Antonio, where goats also sold steady to strong for the week. Wool and mohair trading was slow in the southwest.

Hogs found active demand at southwest markets Monday. Prices averaged 50 cents to $1 higher than a week before at Denver and San Antonio, and unchanged to slightly higher at Fort Worth and Oklahoma City. Top hogs reached $21.50 at Texas markets.

Cattle trade was slow at Fort Worth Monday, slow to moderately active at Denver and San Antonio, and active at Houston. Prices were unchanged to slightly higher than a week earlier. Good fed yearlings brought $23 to $25 at Fort Worth. Livestock receipts last week fell moderately below those of the week before at southwest and midwest markets on all classes of livestock. Twelve-market total of cattle receipts showed the only important increase over the same week of last year.

Dressed pork advanced $3 to $5 a hundred at New York for the week. Veal, calf and lamb sold unchanged to $4 higher, and beef and mutton changed little.

Hot weather slowed egg and poultry trading the past week but prices showed little change. Best quality eggs sold firm, but current receipts eased as heat affected quality. Best large white eggs sold at 45 to 50 cents a dozen, but yard run eggs ranged from 37 to 40 in North Texas. Fryers sold from 26 to 28 cents a pound.

Rice trade was dull. Rains followed by sunshine helped the growing rice crop. Wheat millfeed prices dropped lower, while meatscraps and tankage sold higher, and other feeds changed little. Prairie hay baling was getting into full swing, but alfalfa markets remained rather slow. Peanut crops had good growing weather.

WTCC Opens Fight in Congress for Better Allocation of Water to Cities

A campaign to take the West Texas municipal water fight to the National congress has been started by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, with a series of letters to national and local officials, chamber of commerce managers and editors.

The letters accompany a report just made by WTCC Manager D. A. Bandeen on the West Texas water shortage damage, under application of the Hoover Commission domestic water recommendations.

"In support of Your Recommendation No. 1 on priority of use of multi-purpose reservoirs—as contained in your Commission's report to the Congress on Federal Business Enterprises—the enclosed analysis and report on 'West Texas Water Shortage Damages and Application of the Hoover Commission's Domestic Water Recommendations' has been made, Bandeen wrote to Mr. Hoover. "The report is an effort to show that lack of domestic water is truly a menace to public welfare equivalent to flood damages and that the adoption of your recommendation would certainly contribute greatly to the welfare of our people everywhere, including municipal corporations.

"There is widespread and militant support in this West Texas territory and all of Texas of your municipal water priority formula and our purpose is to campaign in Washington for the adoption of your commission's majority recommendation."

To other officials Bandeen pointed out that although the WTCC report expresses the organized thinking of West Texas territory on surface water problems, it now is expressing a national viewpoint because of the Hoover recommendations.

In beginning the program the local chambers have been asked to study it and pass resolutions calling upon a revision of the federal dam building criteria, which would permit construction of dams with municipal water as the motivating factor.

As co-chairman of the WTCC Water Resources Development Committee R. M. Wagstaff has called on all West Texas mayors to give support to the program. Wagstaff was one of the authors of the Wagstaff-Woodward bill passed in 1931, giving domestic water users first priority in Texas.

"This is a challenge to you to give us your personal and official endorsement of this report and do something big for your town," Wagstaff wrote the mayors.

President John D. Mitchell of WTCC called upon the organization's directors to "act together as we did in the freight rate parity campaign, and it is not at all impossible for us to secure this change in federal policy."

M. C. Ulmer, former WTCC president and now chairman of the pressing a national viewpoint because of the Hoover recommendations.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gilmour of Italy, Texas, were guests Monday of Mrs. Gilmour's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey McGuire in Hamlin.

I. R. Hughingson and Dennis Johnson went to Lubbock Monday on business.

Public Expenditure and legislative commission, has written all members of the West Texas legislature "the remedy is legislatively to correct these things both in our state and national water development policies."

Issues raised in this report are appropriate for editorial comment," L. A. Wilke, WTCC service director wrote to Texas editors, in pointing out high spots of the report. They range from the menace of inadequate water for domestic use to the question of the relative value of big power dams to numerous small dams for impounding domestic water.

Local chambers of commerce also have been asked to convene their boards or water committees to study the report.

OF AN INCH?

Scientists Find Way to Make Extra Small Particles

Scientists working on the new Humble Esso Extra Motor Oil discovered that the addition of a special dispersive made it possible to break up the soot, sludge, varnish and dirt that the new product cleans from automobile engines, into particles as small as 38/1,000,000 of an inch in size. This, they say, is many times smaller than the smallest clearance in an automobile engine, so that the materials cleaned out of the engine by the new Esso Extra Motor Oil cannot damage moving parts. Humble station salesmen are urging customers to drain dirty, diluted oil and refill with new Esso Extra Motor Oil for extra protection. Adv.

Plenty of Salt in Diet Is Needed to Avoid Sun Stroke

A deficiency of salt in the human system can cause serious consequences, and for this reason Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises every person whose work is such that it causes excessive perspiration to add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water taken during the day.

Farmers, mechanics, carpenters, construction men and all others whose work causes them to sweat profusely are in danger of having their body salt content seriously depleted, and as a result may suffer from heat cramps or heat fatigue. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat, and when the thermometer hits the high register, the human body may lose as much as 40 to 50 grams of salt during a single day.

In many industrial plants, workmen are furnished with and urged to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Many find this a pleasant way of taking extra salt, but others prefer to add the needed amount of extra salt to their food and drink.

"Take your extra salt in any manner that is agreeable to you," says Dr. Cox, "but take it. Heat cramps are very painful and exhausting. They are characterized by cramps in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases there may be nausea and vomiting. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until a deficiency exists; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp."

According to the State Health Officer, it is a wise precaution to keep the body supplied with salt, and thus avoid much possible suffering and loss of time from heat cramps.

"You should be ashamed of yourself," reprimanded the father as he gave his son a dressing down for not having advanced beyond the errand-boy stage at his place of business. "Why, when George Washington was your age he was hard at work as a surveyor, earning good money."

"Sure," replied the youth in a swift counter-attack, "and when he was your age he was President of the United States."
